

HELLO, I'M DIMITRIJE KASALOVIĆ!

DIGITAL NATIVE FRONTEND DEVELOPER MARKETING OCTOPUS

An interest in computers starts from my first Compaq Pentium 1 computer. Later, my focus turns to 3D drawing at various projects. During high school, as a member of the School Parliament, I was in charge of doing mainly technical things, which also got me closer to design. After enrolling at university, as I didn't find myself in the economics sphere, I decided to get employment. The position of Junior IT Support in an international company induced me to continue my work in IT sector. With intention of expanding my knowledge, I signed up for the Academy for programmers in Kragujevac and finished HTML5/CSS3 course, and soon after that JavaScript course. Then I started working on making a website in WordPress for Public transport agency, therefore I have successfully gained skills for working in CMS system. Additionally, I've upgraded my IT knowledge by finishing IT Advisory internship programme in one of the "big four" accounting firms, Ernst and Young. Currently, I am employed by an international company in the Marketing Department as a Digital Marketing Specialist.

Dimitrije as DJ

I spend my free time traveling across Serbia with my band, absorbing positive energy from my audience. One of my most important principles is "Do a job you love and you will be happy".

PlayStation Arena

Playing video games is being my greatest pleasure. I was a PC gamer in childhood, but I prefer console nowadays. Jobs that I do leave no time for playing games, so I decided to channel that passion through a PlayStation game-room, which will lead me to an entrepreneurship business.

Dimitrije as entrepreneur

My theory is: If I am starting a business in a field of my narrow interests, knowing the basics of entrepreneurship and marketing, with a dose of luck - success is inevitable.
